"Ladies of the Jury" Wins Verdict From Enthusiastic Audiences

One of the easiest and unanimous verdicts ever reached by a Carmel audience in deciding the relative merits of a local play was returned over the week-end when capacity houses witnessed the Community Players production of "Ladies of the Jury."

Constant laughter, applause and stamping of the feet acclaimed the hilarious satire on America's jury system. It was the type of a production that will send the Community Players on, we hope, a new year of theatrical triumphs.

The staging of "Ladies of the Jury," and the previous success of "Pinafore" show exactly what can be done with amateurs and why up to a few years ago, Carmel had an outstanding reputation for its local theatricals.

Helen Ware, of course, lived up to expectations and did a fine piece of acting in a long, almost tedious role. On her shoulders lay the entire success of the production and she did not shirk the responsibility.

To us, however, the crowning achievement of the week-end's production was the acting of two people, both of whom are virtually strangers behind the shadowed footlights. Virginia Rockwell as Miss Pratt, the straight-laced, unemotional member of the jury, did one of the best pieces of acting we've had the privilege to witness. Miss Rockwell was placed in the role only three days before the opening night, but she did the part with true professional skill and polish.

Equally splendid was the acting of Dick Masten as Mr. Pressley, the foreman of the jury. Although unfamiliar with the technique that only experience can give and the usual "tricks of the trade," Masten gave an interpretation of the role that would have comment on Broadway.

The others, Sammy Sampson, Ruth Pinkham, Bonney Cockburn, Fern Hyde, Bert Bruno, Sam Ethridge, Charlie Sayers, Ross Cowen, W. B. Williams, Chester Shepherd, Gordon Knoles, Galt Bell, Sibyl Leonard, Ranald Cockburn, Hildreth Masten, Dick Catlett, Larry Grenier, Holly Smith, Charlotte Lawrence, Albert Hyde, Philip Remer, Frank Thompson, Gus Correll and Clyde Prior all worked in constant harmony and aided in the triumph of the production.

And there is one man that must not be forgotten—Frederick Burt, without whose able direction, the play would have developed into a common farce, instead of a biting satire. He gave the production, we believe, a better interpretation than when "Ladies of the Jury" was on the professional stage.

Ewig To Be Sworn In As School Trustee After Victory At Polls

Prepared to carry out his program of economy and harmony at Sunset School, E. H. Ewig, prominent Carmel business man is scheduled to be sworn in as a member of the school board the latter part of this month following his election Friday.

Ewig, polling an unusually heavy vote defeated Mrs. Emma Rendtorff in one of the fiercest political fights staged in Carmel in years. Ewig when the final ballot was counted had 743 votes to his credit while Mrs. Rendtorff trailed with 404 votes.

The election evolved rather around personalities than issues, both Ewig and Rendtorff keeping in the background with their supporters doing most of the campaigning. Both factions were highly organized after weeks of house to house canvassing, telephone calls and direct letter appeals. The margin of votes between the two candidates was much wider than had been anticipated.

When Mrs. Daisy Taylor was elected last year, she defeated Mrs. Hester Schoeninger by merely 16 votes. Virtually the same faction that supported Mrs. Taylor was behind Mrs. Rendtorff, who was running almost on the same platform as advocated by Ewig.

Not only was the election bitterly fought, but it was one of the most dramatic in history. Cripples and invalids left their sick beds and went to the school to cast their ballots. In one case, where the woman was unable to leave the car, the election board surrounded the automobile and took her vote—an action which is claimed to have been illegal.

Hot words flew between supporters of both factions and charges against electioneering in front of the booth led almost to fist fights.

Shortly after the election, Ewig in thanking the Pine Cone for its support said: "I entered this campaign without promises to any person or group and it will be my hope and endeavor to give the school district an impartial administration. I want to express my most sincere appreciation to those who supported me."

Ewig will take the place vacated by Dr. Ferdinand Haasis, the incumbent member who did not seek re-election. Other members of the board include Miss Clara Kellogg and Mrs. Daisy Taylor.

Carmel Dollars Do Their Part To Make Carmel Attractive

An inspection of the work that is being done through Carmel Dollars in unemployment relief in Carmel shows decided benefits in street and drainage betterments. One fine piece of engineering is the construction of a stone drainage channel along the edge of Fourth street, between Monte Verde and San Antonio. Here, each winter in the past, the flood waters have made the street impassable, and have caused heavy repair bills to the city. Now, carried by culverts under Monte Verde, the waters of the gulch will flow in an attractive rock-built open ditch that winds through the eucalyptus trees, protecting the roadway and making one of the most satisfying streets in the city.

Another drainage job done by unemployment relief funds through Carmel Dollars is at Junipero, Torres and Sixth streets, where the water that feeds the gully in Devendorf Park is handled by open ditches and large culverts to protect the streets. A culvert installed at Thirteenth and San Antonio street now takes care of a drainage problem at that end of town.

The intersections of north and south streets with Ocean avenue, down town, are being concreted to fill the corners to the curbs, thus widening the streets in this crowded section for added traffic. Curbing is being installed where it is most needed. At the corporation yards, cement piping for culvert work is being constructed at a fraction of the cost of purchase.

But the finest piece of work shown by the inspection is the trimming of the cypresses along San Antonio street and Scenic Road, south of Ocean avenue to the city limits line. Under supervision of a real artist, George Seideneck, the trees have been so carefully pruned as to reveal their distinctive shapes and at the same time allow views of the ocean through the foliage. There has been no haphazard lopping, but the trees have been cleared from the ground upwards, each clump and each tree being considered for artistic treatment. The job is a wonderful example of what may be obtained of utilitarian value without destruction of beauty when an artist is given charge of the work.

Cinderella Sought As Prince Charming Finds Lost Slipper

Is there a small feminine foot in Carmel that will fit into Cinderella's slipper?

If so, Prince Charming like prosperity is waiting just around the corner with an air castle fully equipped to greet his bride.

For more than a week now, Cinderella's slipper has remained unclaimed on top of the village's official bulletin board next door to the postoffice. Various charming damsels have tried the slipper, but in each case the fitting has been too tight.

Whence the slipper came, and what Prince Charming placed it there is a mystery that has baffled every resident who has viewed it. The slipper, said to be of an expensive make, is unusually small and who ever claims it, must have a Cinderella-like foot to fit into it.

Hagemeyer Loses Photo Equipment in Theft

There's one picture Johan Hagemeyer, noted Carmel photographer, wished he had. That's the picture of the thief who broke into his car while parked in a San Francisco street and stole all of his photographic equipment.

A number of valuable cameras and lenses which he had used for years were taken by the thief. Hagemeyer had the equipment in the back of his car, the thief breaking the lock to get to it.

Schulte, Kirby Elected High School Trustees

Ben Schulte of Carmel and J. A. Kirby of Elkhorn valley stood elected this week as new members of the Monterey High School Board of Trustees.

Both candidates running unopposed were named in last Friday's school election held throughout the district. Schulte succeeds Mrs. Hester Schoeninger of Carmel and Kirby takes the place of Carmel Martin of Monterey. Both Mrs. Schoeninger and Martin did not seek re-election.

Aldrich Foresaw His Own Death Discussed It With Many Friends

By Herbert Cerwin

Charles Roberts Aldrich is dead. To those of us who were fortunate enough to be his friends, his sudden passing is hard to believe, difficult to realize and almost impossible to accept. One moment we were talking to him; in another moment he was gone.

His death is not only a distinct loss to Carmel, his home for many years, but to that wide field of advanced psychology in which he was already winning international recognition. He was in his prime and his second and most important book remains behind only partly written.

Aldrich, who had gained an uncanny insight of the human mind, must have foreseen his own death and he greeted it willingly. The afternoon of his death he made a statement which was lightly passed.

"You know," he said, "people always can tell when they're going to die."

In a letter that Prof. C. G. Jung of Zurich, one of the world's greatest psychologists had written to him a week ago:

". . . that you have chosen Death as the theme for other articles is quite in keeping with the general mood of the world. It is the appropriate thing in a time when the values and ideals of the 19th century must be uprooted. There again you revert to type, namely to the relativity of life and the earth as the House of Death."

Aldrich graduated from Yale to follow in the footsteps of his illustrous father, then solicitor general of the United States. In the midst of a brilliant career as an international lawyer, he abandoned his work and went to Zurich to study the then almost unknown science of psychology.

Part of the result of years of research work in probing the human mind is contained in a single volume: "The Primitive Mind and Modern Civilization." This book, devoted more to the scientist than to the layman is rich in material that may be the basis for the future development of psychology.

Aldrich had lived in Carmel in the days of George Sterling and on his return from abroad, he came with his wife to make his permanent home here. During the past few months, he had been brooding and depressed. He had always a smile on his face but those who knew him, sensed he suffered inwardly from an unknown illness.

Last Friday afternoon, he finished a number of important business matters that no one but he could have carried out. As he was preparing to retire for the night, he became distressed and the family physician was called.

Aldrich engaged his physician in conversation and discussed a number of sociological problems. At a few minutes before midnight he gripped his wife's hand and smiled—the smile of a philosopher who accepted life's verdict. The end had come.

H. C. Overin, Jr. of La Ribera Hotel was elected to the Board of Governors of the Mission Trails Charter No. 61, at an election held at Hotel San Carlos, Monterey, last Saturday night.

Check Passer Wanted in Three States Meets Fate in Carmel

Anthony Corbett, 28, who came to Carmel two weeks ago a total stranger and overnight won the friendship of many peninsula society people, was eating beans instead of caviar this week as a guest of the county.

Corbett was arrested over the week end at a local hotel when two of his checks were politely returned by the bank as forged. According to Chief of Police August Englund, Corbett used his magic pen too often and has left a trail of bad checks in three different states.

In each community, he visited, Corbett was able to elude authorities and a state-wide hunt for him was underway when he was picked up by Carmel police.

Check passers who escape from authorities in other communities, somehow always seem to meet their eventful end in peaceful Carmel. Like other notorious check passers who practiced their profession in other parts of the country and finally were rounded up in Carmel, Corbett's arrest followed when the suspicion of a local hotel owner was aroused.

Corbett was taken to the county jail at Salinas where he will probably return to Oregon where he is also wanted on a series of large check charges. Police claim he has served sentences in three different prisons, each time returning to his original calling.

Tony Luhan To Be Heard in Indian Songs

Saturday evening, April 15, Tony Luhan will sing pueblo songs of the plains Indians in the Denny-Watrous Gallery.

Seated in the center of the Gallery, with the audience informally circled around, beating intricate rhythms on his big drum, Tony will sing songs of the Apaches, Navahos, Cherokees, and other tribes whose characteristics are best preserved in their music.

Only very old and middle-aged men know these songs. Handed down by word of redman's mouth since how long before Columbus reached America's shores no one knows. It may be that fifty years or so from now these songs will be heard only from phonograph records, for the young Indian, like the young negro, appreciates no more than the average American citizen the value and the musical importance of the Indian tribal song.

Tony Luhan knows these songs well, and because to him their meaning and their beauty run deep in his blood as the story of the American Indian, it is a privilege to hear him. It was Tony Luhan who piloted the celebrated Leopold Stokowski about, when the Philadelphia conductor left his Symphony for over a month to make phonograph records of the Indian music and capture drum beat and tribal chant before it is too late. Stokowski and his wife were guests in Taos of Tony Luhan and his wife, Mable Dodge, and listened hours on end to Tony singing, trying to analyze the complex thing that sounded so simple.

Mildred Wright In Recital Soon

Friends of Mildred Sahlstrom Wright are looking forward to her recital in the Denny-Watrous Gallery on Saturday evening, April 22. Those who heard Mrs. Wright play the Lalo Symphonie Espagnole with the Monterey Peninsula Orchestra felt the virility and fire of her playing and want very much to hear her in a solo program.

The Foster Glee Club gave an evening of song and negro spirituals at the Community Church last Sunday night, the first appearance in several months of this splendid organization in Carmel. Marie Campbell de Riemer, contralto, was soloist, with Ruth Bingamin Herman accompanying.

Dollar Day Trips Slated for Easter

To accommodate Easter excursion travel, the Southern Pacific Company has announced plans for a four-day sale of its famous Dollar Day roundtrips, April 13 to 16.

Featuring train rides at approximately one cent a mile, the low fares will blanket the company's lines throughout six western states, according to word received here.

Excursionists will have until April 25 to complete their journeys, it was stated.

Scores Run High as Abalones Get Right Down Into The Stride

By Winsor Josselyn

Thunder and lightning, Abalone League style, partly obscured the prettiest Sunday afternoon of the year. With but two or three games of the 1933 series to go, the electricity set up by eight highly trained teams in combat could not help influencing even the weather.

Consider the scores: At the Point, Pilots 13, Giants 8, followed by Shamrocks 10, Tigers 3. While up at the Woods, where the storm was worse, the figures ran Country Club 9, Del Monte 0, and then Manzanita 20, Polo Club 5.

This gives the standings, by drug store mathematics:

Club Section

| | Won | Lost | Pct. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Del Monte | 3 | 2 | .600 |
| Country Club | 3 | 3 | .600 |
| Manzanita Club | 3 | 3 | .500 |
| Polo Club (Old M'ty) | 2 | 4 | .400 |

Community Section

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pilots | 5 | 1 | .833 |
| Giants | 4 | 2 | .667 |
| Shamrocks | 3 | 4 | .429 |
| Tigers | 1 | 6 | .152 |

When the Giants lost to the Pilots, down at the Point, it was a case of good players against heroes—and heroines. When you have Helen Van Riper, who got on base twice and scored one run (showing that her leadership of girl batters is earned), and Staniford, Hicks and Bancroft, who got on base three times each and accounted for two runs apiece, only a super-team could have won. True, the Giants rose up and grabbed five runs in the fifth inning, but nevertheless the Pilots forged into Community Section headlines.

The second game down there found the Tigers unable to hit the Shamrock pitching. The Shamrocks, by the way, should feel a little ashamed for trampling on the Tiger's tattered hide so meanly, they who have toppled the Giants and whe were themselves so walked-on in their early days. Their Messrs. Handley and Tobiason got on base every time up, with the former getting three runs and the latter two, boosting the team into third place.

Up at Carmel Woods the powerful Del Monteites were spellbound by catcher Brownell's talking, and pitcher Godwin's hurling. The illegal delivery by Del Monte's pitcher seemed to have been ironed out, as he passed under the eagle eyes of experts without rib-racking roars forthcoming. They played as good Abalone ball as you could wish for, but the Country Club simply had its better day.

A perfect day, in fact, for players Godwin, Catlett and Harry Brownell, they reaching first three times in three times up, and among them scoring five runs—Godwin showing the way with a homer. Captain Godwin, running a stained sleeve across his forehead, said:

Airtight support made this shutout possible. My poor fielders get no credit for their errorless play, yet they are the ones who bring tears to a captain's eyes.

In the next game, the Manzanita Maulers showed off against a substitute Polo Club mob and scored 20 runs. Here again, a little girl shall lead them, and Miss Leidig got on base twice and scored one run. Catlett at third base set a bad example to other players by spearing those twisting fouls and nabbing those cannon ball hits (the robber—he got mine!) and at bat Chew, Kelsey and H. Hilbert did depressing things to Polo hopes.

Of course, for Polo reputation, Roberts got on four in four, and Doc (Catch-'em) Slipner got on three in four and together they netted four runs. But their million dollar outfield was being sold at a sharp discount and the Manzanita hitters took full advantage of it. Johnstone, right field, tried to disconcert them with trick catches and juggling acts, but they only laughed and pounded the ball harder.

And the game ended with a triple play. G. Campbell scooped a shoe-string liner, tossed to Catlett at third, who got generous and threw to Jean Leidig at first. After considerable yammering the play was allowed; besides, we needed it for publicity.

The Carmel Pine Cone SUPPLEMENT

Vol. XIX No. 13 CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA March 31, 1933

Legal Beer Kicked Out Of Carmel--For Awhile Anyway

Legalized beer may be non-intoxicating but it almost went to the heads of members of the city council following one of the most heated meetings held in recent years.

With some 200 residents of the village filling the council chambers to capacity until midnight, members of the council listened to one argument ofter another on determining whether or not beer should be sold in Carmel.

Just before adjournment the council in a final move voted to hold a special election within the next three or four weeks at which time residents in the village can decide if beer will be sold openly in Carmel, and if so, in what form.

An amendment to the present "Little Volstead" law which will allow residents to transport and to possess beer purchased in Monterey or out of town, was introduced by Councilman Robert Norton and passed unanimously by all five members.

The beer question began to flow from the moment the council meeting opened until the very end. Those who spoke in favor of allowing the sale of beer in Carmel included Frank Sheridan, James Hopper, Ralph Condon, Helen Ware, Frederick Burt, Eugene Watson, Ora Minges and several other property owners.

Dr. F. W. Haasis, Miss Mary Burt Messer, Mrs. Ann Sheets and Police Judge George L. Wood spoke in opposition to the sale of beer.

Mayor John Catlin strongly against the sale of beer explained that he would submerge his own personal convictions if it could be proven to him that the majority of residents of Carmel wanted the beverage to be sold here.

Bitter accusations and counter charges flew during the meeting. In answer, City Attorney Argyll Campbell told the gathering that he "would fight to the last any attempt to establish bootleggers in Carmel." He said, however, he would favor sale of beer under strict control.

Decision to call the election was reached after members of the council pointed out that it would be impossible to obtain harmony in the matter until every resident was given a chance to cast a ballot.

Badminton Championship To Be Held Next Month

Badminton, the high-speed net game rapidly advancing in popularity on the Coast, will see its first California state champions determined at the tournament to be held in Monterey Easter week-end, Saturday and Sunday, April 15 and 16. Lightning fast and filled with action from start to finish, this court game, long supreme in Canada, has caught on with a vengeance.

Entries north and south indicate a field of possibly 150 entries for the State matches being staged by Old Monterey Polo Club under the auspices of the California Badminton Association, whose president is Paul Whitman of Carmel.

Unofficially, George A. McCook and Bob Ford, both of Pasadena, have been regarded as the outstanding players of the State. In the Monterey tournament they will attempt to prove up the title against the field. If both play through to the finals official recognition of top-ranking will go to the winner.

San Francisco bay region entries have been received from strong contenders including Harrison Godwin of Carmel and Leslie I. Nichols. The latter, from Palo Alto, formerly ranked in the first ten of the Metropolitan Association, New York.

Utility Company Using Newspaper Advertising

Virtually all of the advertising given out for the coming year by the Pacific Gas and Electric company will go to the newspapers throughout the state, according to J. Charles Jordan, advertising manager of the utility company who spent several days last week in Carmel.

Jordan said that the advertising appropriation of his company had not been lowered and would probably be increased shortly. "Officials of the company have decided that to sell equipment these days, one must advertise in a greater volume," he explained.

Beer Foam To Splash At Hotel Del Monte

Saturday night is Beer Night at Del Monte. It is of course to be Beer Night all over the United States but at Del Monte the evening will have special significance, recalling as it will the gay times of yesterday when the noted resort set a standard for pre-Volstead gayety.

Beer mugs are waiting. The chill room is prepared, Everything, in fact, is in readiness for one of the most sparkling parties of the year. Ed. Fitzpatrick, Jr. and his Hotel Del Monte orchestra are busy preparing a new crop of tunes to spring on the customers and every indication points to an evening of no small proportions. There will be no increase in prices at Del Monte next Saturday when Beer Night is staged.

Artists, Authors Brushing Up for Quatz Arts Ball

Carmel artists and writers were today preparing to abandon their palette and typewriters in anticipation of the Quatz Arts ball scheduled to be given at Hotel Del Monte on Saturday night April 29.

The ball which will rival the Parisian celebration will be closed to outsiders and invitations for the affair will be limited to friends of the writers and artists who are staging the event.

Many skits, written by well known Carmel authors will be featured as part of the night of gayety and the Del Monte Bali room will be escpecially decorated in keeping with the atmosphere of the event.

In addition to the skits, there will be specialty dancing acts featuring Monterey peninsula and Hollywood dancing girls. Lew Cody, noted moving picture star will act as master of ceremonies.

Arrangements for the gay affair are being made by a committee headed by Harry Leon Wilson, Samuel G. Blythe, Mayor John Catlin, Charles Van Riper, Moira Wallace, Stephen Allen Reynolds, Helen Morgan, Armin Hansen, Perry Newberry, Allen Griffin, Galt Bell, Paul Parker, Herbert Heron and Winsor Joselyn.

Carmel Firm Selected To Build Beer Garden

The new beer garden that will be constructed as part of "Pop" Ernest's famous sea food restaurant in Monterey is being erected by Hugh Comstock and John Neikirk, Carmel builders.

Comstock and Neikirk were selected to do the work from a long list of Monterey peninsula contractors. The beer garden, according to Neikirk, will be unique in style and will fit in with the atmosphere of Pop's place.

Succinctly, we list below a few recipes for mixing Spring colors into stimulating sartorial concoctions.

BLUE . . . to this basic ingredient (one of the best) add a dash of plaid or a portion of brisk green, or vast quantities of white; or serve in the famous triple mixture of red, white and blue.

BEIGE OR GREY . . . The newest Spring beverages, not to be taken straight. To save them from being flat and tasteless spike with a bright blouse . . . red, plaid, black, or blue (best with grey) or with a bright red or green belt, or with a portion of red and white or blue and white print. Garnish the latter with the new print gloves.

BLACK . . . The manhattan favorite, always improved by large proportions of white. Can be served with yellow touches, with red or green belts, or with prints.

TOBACCO-BROWN . . . Very intoxicating on the country menu—delicious with salmon-pink and beige, or with yellow.

GOLDEN-YELLOW . . . Another good country pick-me-up. Serve with black or brown.

Gordon Moore III, Sued For Divorce

While George Gordon Moore, Carmel valley millionaire lay in a Monterey hospital recovering from injuries suffered in an automobile accident, divorce proceedings against him were instituted by his wife in Reno.

In her complaint, Mrs. Moore accuses her husband of non-support and asks for immediate separation. The Moores, socially prominent in Carmel and peninsula activities, were married in 1921.

Missing Carmel Man Hunted by Police

Carmel and Monterey county authorities were this week searching for Clifton George, 28, Carmel resident and driver for a peninsula laundry, who disappeared under mysterious circumstances more than 16 days ago.

George left his truck filled with laundry on a street in Monterey, giving no indication of where he was going. It was understood that George had been short in his accounts and feared possible arrest. He was a former student at the Monterey high school.

In Appreciation

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to all those men and women who gave me their support during the election campaign and who voted for me at the polls.

I have been very proud of the dignified manner in which the campaign was conducted and of the fairmindedness and tolerance shown by my side.

My supporters are not obstructionists; they will always retain their interest in the school and they will be glad to cooperate with those in authority for the progress and efficiency of our schools.

THE END OF SCHOOL STRIFE

With the largest vote in school history, Sunset district spoke determinedly last Friday against political juggling with the school. 947 people cast their ballots to prove their interest. The result was as expected. By a substantial majority of 139, the district selected E. H. Ewig as trustee.

The election was the culmination of two years bitter controversy and petty wrangling in school affairs. This should be the end of it. E. H. Ewig goes into office without pledges to anyone, independent of either factions or politicians. He will serve the whole people of the district. He is broad-minded enough to listen to the plaint of the most partisan; is judicial enough to determine its value; and competent to act upon it according to its importance.

The vote of 404 for Mrs. Emma Rendtorff speaks highly of her personal popularity and standing in the community. It was a remarkable tribute to her fine qualities as a citizen of the district. Under any other circumstances and at any other time, Mrs. Rendtorff would have been chosen to the office with unanimity.

SMILE WITH UNCLE SAM

The reported postponement in construction of a new postoffice for Carmel is cause for little worry and no general disappointment. Some owners of properties affected are, no doubt, discontented with the prolongment of uncertainty of site, but there is no crying demand for hurry in beginning construction. We are well served now by Uncle Sam, and his present postoffice is adequate.

Federal plans for the relief of unemployment have been changed by the incoming administration, and the general program of public works, of which the Carmel postoffice was a part, seems to have been side-tracked, at least temporarily. The hope is strong that substitute measures, looking to the same end, will give prompt relief in the local situation. Carmel's principal interest in a new postoffice was its help in putting men to work in its construction. With that taken care of, we can await erection quite cheerfully.

SPRING-CLEANING

April is a housewife: every breeze
She wields with vigor as a mammoth broom
To sweep away the leaves beneath the trees,
As busily she cleans her world-wide room.
And then, to wash away the winter's grime,
She uses crystal raindrops—one by one;
And on the tops of dogwood trees, like rime,
She spreads her snowy linens to the sun.

Winnie Lynch Rockett

FLIGHT

Like kildeer that cry
In the rain-drenched night,
I have laid my soul
To the far wind's flight:

Seeking, seeking
For something lost,
In the dark before dawn
When the trees are tossed,

Arms aloft, before the winds,
Like ships whose sails
Are flung resistless
Before the gales;

Searching, searching,
In far reaches of sky,—
Myself the wind,
Myself the cry!

V. James Chrasta

TILL THEN . . .

When the bleeding hearts at the lake's brim
Have no message for you . . .
When the blue iris under the pines
Have no secret to tell you . . .
When the wind in the aspen grove
Sings no melody to your heart . . .
Then, forget me!
For then, I will have forgotten
Everything.

Dorothy Marie Davis

BUT WE WON'T PROPHESY

Bright spring weather, warm, happy days, and a big influx of Easter holiday people have given local business a spur that has been reflected in the cash registers and banking balances of our merchants. It is perhaps too early to say that the long winter is past, but there is certainly a more hopeful atmosphere hereabouts.

Carmel's blood pulsates through its veins more vitally in the summer months. Shop-keepers have to put aside their knitting and begin studying the price tags on their stocks. Ocean avenue and Dolores street look more like Main streets than they have in the winter months. The sap of business is flowing.

We are not going to prophesy, but if this coming summer season doesn't show a decided trend toward the return of the well known and deservedly popular Prosperity, we miss our guess. With President Roosevelt doing his part, and that general idea of Carmel's attractiveness pulling for it, the village should see fair days ahead.

HARD WORDS BUTTER NO PARSNIPS

A letter in a local newspaper last week by a Carmelo street resident casts discredit upon the Carmel council's work in trimming the cypresses along San Antonio and Scenic roadways. George Seideneck, who had supervision of the work, is referred to as "a paint splasher instead of a horticulturist," and again as "a palette juggler;" "charity members of the council" are named; the cypresses are called "graveyard ornaments;" and the process of trimming is termed "mutilation."

With eyes unblinded to prejudice, anyone can see who travels the streets named, that the "paint splasher" has done a fine job; that the "charity members" of the council are to be applauded for planning the work so well and giving it such expert supervision; that the trees are no longer, if ever, "graveyard ornaments," but are distinctly interesting specimens of the Monterey cypress, and that the work of trimming has been the exact reverse of "mutilation."

And the people who live on those streets are properly appreciative.

People Talked About

Edward Kuster, producing director of the Community Playhouse of San Francisco, at Sutter and Mason streets, where on the night of Saturday, March 25, he began his series of play with "The Beggar on Horseback," will continue to be an integral part of Carmel's dramatic affairs. By arrangement with the local Community Players, Kuster will bring to this village certain of his city productions to be played at the Community Theatre, and at his own Theatre of the Golden Bough.

Already he has announced a performance of Martin Flavin's "Amaco" sometime this summer by the Golden Bough Players at Carmel. Also he has announced his first play of the season, "The Nursery Maid of Heaven," to be given at the Communay Theatre in April or early May.

Of Kuster's "Beggar," George C. Warren, dramatic critic of the San Francisco Chronicle, speaks in words of warm praise under the headline, "Kuster Puts on Good Production." He called it a "finely imaginative and very interesting production," and gave the performance the better part of column one of his page. Warren says of Robert Stanton, who was in the cast as the doctor friend, he "goes through many metamorphoses of the dream, and does them well."

The work being done in San Francisco by Edward Kuster represents the beginning of a hope for an art theatre, self sustaining yet non-commercial in its ideals. He is working now through the People's Assembly of the Western Women's Club.

■ ■

I was building a house on the Mesa in Hatton Fields seven years ago, with a crew of carpenters, stone masons and laborers, when a sturdy boy of some four or five years of age, stopped me with,

"Please give me a job. I want to go to work."

"But you haven't any tools. How can I put you to work without tools?" I said, expecting to bluff him out.

"Do all these men bring their own tools?"

"Certainly. Carpenters and masons, each has his kit of saws, hammers trowels and other implements."

"Wouldn't they let me use their tools?"

"Would you let them play with your toys?" I countered, but this was a dud. The small boy nodded quickly.

"Of course I would. They could play even with my railroad train. It really runs on tracks. They could come to my house and play with it any time."

"When you're bigger," I explained, "and when you have a kit of tools come to me for a job and you'll get it."

The lad turned away, and went slowly across the field toward his home. I didn't see him again that day, but next morning he was back with a small wheelbarrow painted a bright red, and in it a toy shovel for beach sand workings, and a rusted and broken handsaw. He came up bravely, and remarked that he was a whole day older and that much bigger, and that he had brought his tool kit.

"Do I get the job?" he asked.

"You do," I answered. "You go on the payroll from today. What's the name?"

"Barry Flanders," said the small lad.

■ ■

A tribute in verse from the fourteen year old Ronald Soucey, written upon hearing the sad news of the passing of his friend, Barry Flanders on March twenty-fifth, is worthy of print as poetry. It reads:

I didn't know him very well,
But oft when passing here and there
I'd see his face. How could I tell
While yet he lived, how much I care.
I'd see him play amongst the trees
Or see him sail his home-made boat
While up in water to his knees
He'd laugh to see his plaything float.

Loving kin had seen that he
Was well supplied with boughten toys,
But he made his own for he would be
A builder like the other boys.

Those worthless things he strewed about
Have now become a priceless treasure.
How often now we'll take them out
To love with melancholy pleasure.

For now he's gone. What can I say
Or do to bring one more sweet smile?
Oh, once we valued them not this way
For then we had them all the while.

Alas, he's gone and cannot rise.
Until someone so near is dead,
We never seem to realize
The slenderness of life's fine thred.

THE VILLAGE NEWS-REEL

The dance at the "Green Room" following the play Saturday night, was presented by Ralph James in conjunction with the "Cast." The music was played by Maurice Stoney and his "Hi Hatters." Among those attending were Helen Ware, Dr. and Mrs. David Matzke, Mr. and Mrs. Merwin Armstrong, Herbert Heron, Rubye Frailey, Harriet Miller, Bill Staniford, Bill Nye, Florence Dofsen, Margaret Wentworth, Eleanor Stoney, Gret Schoeninger, Gordie Campbell, Jim Hopper, Speck Turner, Paul Taylor, Ross Cowen, Larry Grenier, Lyle Bate and Bob and Holly Smith. The highlight of the evening was an (impromptu) "Hootchie" dance by Helen Ware and Ross Cowen encouraged by Doc. Matzke and Bert Heron.

A "Balloon dance" with additional entertaining features, will be held to-night at the Manzanita Clubhouse. This is another of the series being given by the Junior Manzanita Club.

¶

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rohr entertained at an "After Theatre Supper Party" last Saturday night, at their home in Carmel. Among the guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Humphreys, Mr. and Mrs. John Neikirk, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Condon, Mrs. Mackintosh, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cerwin, and Mr. and Mrs. Ranald Cockburn.

¶

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Flanders accompanied by Mrs. Flanders' sister, Mrs. Elbert Clark, are now visiting in Tucson, Arizona. Mrs. Clark will then continue to New York, Mr. and Mrs. Flanders spending a few weeks in Tucson.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Forest of Carl's Auto Service have returned from a tour of the southland. They travelled as far south as Tia Juana, and were present during the later earth shocks of southern California.

Forest reports that contrary to belief, newspaper stories of the disaster in southern California were minimized. He says that probably fifty per cent of all buildings in the stricken area will require extensive repair if not entire rebuilding.

Week-end guests at Hotel La Ribera included: Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Jackson, Oakland; Mrs. H. S. Fisher, Mrs. M. F. Skehen, Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Kleven, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Hanlon, Sacramento; Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Beardsley, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Preston, Seattle, Washington; Mrs. Geo. Keller, Martinez; Miss B. Snell, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Wentworth, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Grady, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Leavens, Berkeley; Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Atkinson, Colfax; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young, Los Angeles; Mrs. M. McGrath, Montrose; Mr. Alan Kelsey, Stanford University; and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Converse, Beverly Hills.

¶

Miss Mozelle G. Milliken the advertising manager of the Whitcomb and William Taylor Hotels in San Francisco recently spent several days in Carmel, stopping at Hotel La Ribera.

¶

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zimmerman and Fred Zimmerman, Jr. with Misses Eloise Hawkins and Helen Ramming recently spent a two weeks vacation in Carmel stopping at Hotel La Ribera. Mr. Zimmerman, Jr. is a student at Stanford University and Misses Hawkins and Ramming are attending Mills College, Oakland.

With the holding of Easter vacation last week, a large number of college students and their friends made merry in the Bali Room at Hotel Del Monte. Among those seen in the Bali Room Friday night were: Misses: Jean Thompson, Ruth, Betty and Edwina Pinkham, Vida Butler, Jane Hopper, Patty Johnson, and Messrs: John Mather, Dale Leidig, Gordon Campbell, Billy Heron, Jim Hopper, Tom Warren, Wilbur Claywell, Charles Watson, Bob Drewes, Wallace Goodeno, and Lad Hyde. On Saturday evening the following were glimpsed in the Bali Room: Messrs and Mesdames: M. J. Murphy; Misses Nancy Cocke, Mary Wheldon, Edwina Pinkham, Ruth and Betty Pinkham, Jane Hopper, Cecily Cunha, Moira Wallace, Betty Webb, Nancy and Jean Thompson, Messrs. Robert Edgren, Fred Godwin, Frank Work, John Mather, George Aucourt, Charles Watson, and Arne Anderson.

¶

Week-end guests of the W. F. Gleeson, Jrs., were Mr. and Mrs. William F. Gleeson with their daughter, Margaret, and son, Cyril.

ELECTRIC RANGES give precious freedom

Simplified Cooking
BY ELECTRIC TIME CONTROL
BY ELECTRIC TEMPERATURE CONTROL

SIMPLIFY LIVING... LESSEN WORK

IF YOUR WIFE complains of being tired, or wishes she had time to spend in the garden, perhaps it's because, like so many women she is a slave to her kitchen.

For her good, consider this proposal. Do away with the need for your wife standing by a hot stove in hot summer weather, waiting and watching while meals are being cooked. Ask her if she hasn't wished many times for an electric range with electric controls that do the watching and waiting—give her precious freedom.

More than a million American women have turned to electric cooking. It wasn't that it was a new way to cook, it was a better way that made cooking more simple, more certain. Yes, and food cooked in an electric range tastes better, is more healthful. Less water is used and there is no boiling away of valuable minerals in vegetables, while meats are more flavorful, juicy and tender.

Why not carry out this sensible suggestion that will allow worth-while freedom that means greater health and contentment? See and select the electric range for your home at the nearest P.G. and E. office or in your electric dealer's store. Low prices and liberal purchase terms prevail on this year's electric range models.

Carmel Theatre to "Play 42nd Street"

"42nd Street" an all-inclusive dramatic musical comedy spectacle of the American theatre, opens at the Carmel Theatre Sunday, with an all star cast of noted screen and stage players.

The screen play, based on the popular novel of Bradford Ropes, is said to contain every ingredient that makes for a really great picture. It is snappy colorful and packed with laughs. It has, also a dramatic underlying theme and reveals the mammoth spectacle of a musical comedy show in preparation and when it is finished.

Because it is a story of the backstage world of the theatre, each member of the cast was selected with an eye to stage experience as well as screen experience talent. The stellar names include Warner Baxter, Bebe Daniels, Una Merkel, George Brent, Ruby Keeler, Guy Kibbee, Ned Sparks, Dick Powell, Ginger Rogers and Allen Jenkins all of whom have been prominent on both stage and screen.

"42nd Street" opens at the Carmel Theatre Sunday April 9 and the last performance will be Monday night April 10 at 9:45 p.m.
